Workshops

The members who participated in Judy Laquidara's "Topsy Turvy 9-Patch" workshop in October showed their finished quilts. Debbie Jones started signing up members who are interested in taking the February workshop with Susan Stewart. Susan's workshop is called Sunburst Medallion and the class fee is $30.00 and the kit cost is $25.00. The March workshop with Linda Ballard is called Fractured Crystals. Anyone interested in doing a mini-workshop should contact Debbie.

2010 Common Threads Quilt Show

Tamera Gonzales took the stage to speak about the June 25 – 27th Common Threads Quilt Show that will be held at Century II. The judge for the show is Anita Shakelford. Bookmarks that contain show information are also available. The Quilt Show has its own website: <http://wichitaquiltshow.com> and will contain updated information as it is received. Tamera reminded the members that all judged entry forms must be postmarked by March 31, 2010. The Common Thread Quilt Show iron-on transfers can be purchased from Tamera for $3.00 a sheet or can be downloaded. Volunteers are still needed for tour buses and souvenirs. Deb Johnson revealed the beautiful Opportunity Quilt and thanked those who designed, appliquéd and quilted it. The tickets are ready to sell.

Block of the Month

Kendra McBroom in the afternoon and Vera Zahner in the evening, demonstrated what the first block would look like when completed and then demonstrated how the second block would be added to the first block. Members were encouraged to participate.

Speaker

The November speaker, Su Bunch and her husband Dwayne, was introduced by Sue Muhlenbruch. Su defined blended quilts as a scrappy quilt, elegant in nature, that mimic's the 1800's. Her lecture "Keeping the Piece" demonstrated that gorgeous fabrics and easy piecing make exceptional quilts. While quoting Marsha McCloskey, Su encouraged everyone to "learn the rules well...because it is only then that you can break them." Dwayne entertained the members with 1800's era trivia questions. Their website is <http://www.piecekeepersonline.com>.

Door Prize Drawings

It was then time for Hospitality Chair Sandra Coln in the afternoon and Sharon Smith in the evening, to draw for and distribute door prizes.

No further business, the afternoon meeting was adjourned at 3:08 and the evening at 8:55.
